4 Allandale Historic Walking Tour (red line)

- 1 Allandale Station: The Simcoe and Huron Union Railway Company line known affectionately as "Oates, Straw and Hay" reached here in 1853. The OSH became the Grand Trunk Railway, which built the present station in 1905.
- 2 268 Bradford Street: Completed in 1907, the old Railroad YMCA was built and administered by local citizens primarily to offer overnight accommodations to 'deadheading' railway men.
- 3 4 Esso Road: This is an example of a building made to fit its irregular-shaped lot.
- 4 Esso Road Presbyterian Church: In 1877, the Allandale area Presbyterian established a Sunday school and meeting place in a vacated blacksmith's shop on the west side of Esso Road.

- 5 St. George's Anglican Church: After meeting for twenty years in various buildings around the village, Allandale's Anglican congregation built their homey English Gothic parish church in 1892.
- 6 Burton Ave United Church: In 1895, the Allandale or Burton Avenue Church was erected here. The church was damaged by lightning in 1933 and 1966.

TRAIL DETAILS:

LENGTH	- 2km & 4km
SURFACE	- Paved
TERRAIN	- Level
DIFFICULTY	- Easy
DOG	- Leashed
ZONES	- 4km

4 Architectural Historic Tour (green line - pages 12-13)

The walk along the beautiful neighbourhood of Allandale promises wonderful architecture from the 1850's to the early 1900's.

Take in the craftsmanship of homes established in previous decades and the large community buildings that are a part of Barrie's history.

- A Gowan Street has a wide range of attractive Ontario Gothic Revival style houses dating from the 1870s. Featuring the characteristic verandahs, fine bargeboard decoration on both gables, the bay windows and buff brick voussoirs, it is indicative of the time.
- B On Cumberland, the houses appear to be miniature versions of the classic Ontario Gothic Revival farmhouse. The use of the Grand Second Empire style with its characteristic mansard roof is quite charming. In the 1870s, a quarter acre lot on Cumberland Street even sold for $100.
- C The William Street houses are typical of many tract houses in the early 1900s, tending towards bulkiness with a minimum of decoration. The street façades present fine verandahs with striking, geometric woodwork.
- D The homes here on Burton Avenue are indicative of the high standard of craftsmanship found in houses of the late nineteenth century. They are characterized by their bulkiness and the minimum of decoration, exhibiting architectural details of the time.

The Allandale Station (see pages 12-13)

The future of the community of Allandale was guaranteed when the Ontario, Simcoe and Huron Union Railway Company line arrived in 1853.

Expansion of the Allandale Train station was completed in 1904 and the Grand Trunk Railway took over operations in 1905. The station provided passenger services by CN Railway and Via Rail until closing in 1980. Allandale Waterfront GO Station opened in January 2012 providing daily train services to and from Barrie to Toronto's Union Station.

E The Master Mechanic's Building, renamed Southshore Centre, was built in 1903 as the Grand Trunk Railway Office and Stores Building to accommodate the offices of the Master Mechanic and clerical staff, as well as acted as a major service depot for locomotives travelling through. The building is an early example of poured concrete construction, rectangular in shape and a hip style roof. In 1994, the building was extended to a community centre and is the office of Tourism Barrie and the year-round tourist information centre.

F The Barrie Military Heritage Park opened in October 2017 as a tribute to the past and present members of the Canadian Military and its neighbour Canadian Forces Base Borden. The park features seating areas, ANAF Monument, Victoria Cross Monument Courtyard and Interpretive Gardens & Trench Walk.
